• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

The Pentagon Has Its Second Bomb Scare

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON.—The Pentagon building, home of the joint chiefs of staff, had another bombing scare this week. An unidentified plane was picked up on the radar screen along the Canadian-Maine border.

At the first report some officers at the Pentagon got so excited that they actually called their wives and told them to take their kids and go down in the basement.

However, a jet interceptor flew up and identified the plane as merely an American C-47 coming in from Labrador.

Grave Naval Warning

While President Truman and Clement Attlee were conferring on what to do about it, the House Armed Services committee was hearing a grim closed-door report on the debacle in Korea.

Adm. Forrest Sherman, efficient chief of naval operations and a member of the joint chiefs of staff, tersely reported:

"We've got to face the facts. Our military position today is worse than it was after Pearl Harbor."

Sherman revealed that the Seventh Infantry Division, stranded in northeast Korea, had been "cut to ribbons and no longer exists as a unified fighting force."

Marines in the same area, he added, were in better shape, and had been able to hold their lines together for evacuation purposes.

"It looks like we will have to evacuate and I think the Navy can handle its end of the job," Sherman said.

He added, however, that there might be "losses" if the Navy had to contend with Russian attack planes and submarines.

"But even if that happens we'll still get the job done," the admiral predicted.

Lagging Airplane Production

Sherman's realistic report had an electrifying effect on the committee and its salty chairman, Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia. Vinson announced that he wouldn't stand for any more "business as usual" in the war production program.

The Georgian spoke his piece when William J. McNeil, assistant secretary of defense, advised the committee behind closed doors that aircraft production wasn't moving too fast because of delays in getting airplane engines.

"Plants producing engines are on an eight-hour work day and at this rate it will be 18 months before warplane production will be at a peak," McNeil reported.

"Well, those plants ought to be working on a 24-hour basis," shot back Vinson. "We've got to get the job done now—not 18 months from now. We won't get it done with men working only eight hours a day. Money is not the object now. Our liberty and the freedom of the world is at stake."

Coalition Government??

Whenever friends urge President Truman to form a coalition government, he throws up his hands and wails: "But where can I get good men to come into government?"

This column, which has urged bringing top-flight Republicans into the administration, herewith presents four experienced and able Republicans:

PAUL HOFFMAN—Ex-ECA administrator who put across the Marshall plan in Europe. He would be a natural for a cabinet post or for a high position in the State Department. Hoffman is now touring Europe for the Ford foundation.

LEWIS STRAUSS—Ex-secretary to Herbert Hoover in World War I, World War II admiral, and recently retired from the Atomic Energy Commission. President Truman sided with Strauss in the debate over making the Hydrogen bomb.

CHARLES TAFT—Cincinnati lawyer and brother of Sen. Robert Taft. Charles Taft served in both the Federal Security Agency and State Department during World War II.

GENERAL "WILD BILL" DONOVAN—War-time director of the Office of Strategic Services. He organized U.S. spying and behind-the-lines activities, and was assistant attorney general in the Coolidge administration. Some of Truman's closest advisers, including Democratic Chairman Bill Boyle, tried to persuade the President to make Donovan secretary of defense instead of General Marshall, but the inside fact is that Truman doesn't like him.

All the above are Republicans; all are both able and patriotic.

Barren-Beated Senators

Colorado's GOP Sen. Eugene Millikin, whose head is as smooth as a Colorado boulder, gave his opinion the other day of Senators who try to conceal their baldness. Millikin took the floor in self-defense at a closed-door Republican caucus, after Maine's Sen. Owen Brewster made a crack about the bald-headed old-timers.

Mischievously Millikin accused Brewster of trying to cover his bald head with "slicked overs," or strands of strategically combed hair. "But the greatest deceiver is Bob Taft," grinned Millikin with a glance at Senator Taft's thinly camouflaged head.

Headlines and Headaches

Rumors that Bill Boyle is resigning as Democratic national chairman are about as accurate as General MacArthur's bring-the-boys-home-by-Christmas promise. Boyle can only resign to the full Democratic committee at a meeting which he must call himself. . . . Backstage fact is that some of the Ed Pauley oil boys have been gunning for Boyle ever since he persuaded the President to veto the Kerr natural gas bill; also since he encouraged HST to be tough on Tideland oil. . . . It's now becoming clearer why Senator Downey, Democrat, ducked out of the Senate early to make room for Senator-elect Nixon, Republican, a friend of the oil lobby. Downey will not only represent the city of Long Beach, Calif., which owns a stack of Tideland oil leases along the edge of the Pacific, but will also represent San Diego and Oakland. Long Beach, however, will pay most of the freight—a total of $1,500 monthly plus $1,500 monthly expenses or $36,000 a year. . . . Long Beach harbor commissioners at first told the press to withhold any mention of their hiring the ex-senator.

It's Time We Realized Russia Aims to Conquer Us

By Bruce Blossat

The Russians mean to conquer us.

They have been announcing that intention in their writings for a long time, just as Hitler did in his book, "Mein Kampf." Unhappily, too many of us have not wanted to face this brutal truth.

Now, events in Korea and elsewhere in the world are compelling us to accept it as the great cardinal fact governing our lives.

Russian talk of peace is meaningless. It is contradicted by Communist action in Korea and Communist action in the United Nations. When the chips were down on a UN resolution that would have promoted early peace in Korea, Russia voted "no."

The Kremlin has no idea of negotiating a lasting peace or any other kind of settlement that would hamper its plans for global conquest. Russian leaders believe Communist society represents the "way of the future" and that we in the West are a dying civilization. So frantically are they convinced of this that they are never troubled for long by individual reverses. They believe time works for them.

Obviously that doesn't mean they're content to sit back passively and wait for us to crumble. They exert a constant pressure against us, probing for weak spots. That's why they went into Korea in the first place; they had it marked as a soft point.

It should be abundantly plain to every American, furthermore, that every Soviet success emboldens Moscow to more daring adventures.

Most important of all, it brings nearer the day when Soviet rulers may be willing to undertake a war unless they think they have a good chance to win it. The critical moment is the one when they at least believe their prospects are bright.

Knowing all this about the Russians, what must we do? First, we must divert ourselves once and for all of wishful thinking about the likelihood Russia will change its objectives. The Kremlin's purpose is unalterable—to destroy us—and everything it does serves that end and no other.

We must then resolve to do everything possible to compel Russia to postpone the decision that means global war. That means a high state of military preparedness for ourselves and our Allies, real protection both for America and the crucial industry of Western Europe. It means accepting controls, sacrifices, hardships at home.

We do not have much time to make up our minds to do this. The areas of the world left to free men are diminishing. Our chief military advantages—the A-bomb and a strategic air force—also are diminishing relatively as Russian power gains.

The price of failure to do all these things now—while the Russians presumably are still deferring the big decision—will be wholesale war.

We might get it anyway. It might come through accident or Soviet miscalculation of our strength and theirs. Or Moscow might conclude that a long stalemate induced by our growing power would ultimately work to the ruin of Communist leaders. They might in desperation choose a war of doubtful outcome rather than risk their necks at home by waiting too long.

These eventualities we cannot guard against. But in duty to ourselves and free people everywhere, we must behave as if accident and mistake will not govern. We must act to show the men in the Kremlin that they cannot win. Or to put it a better way, that we will not be defeated.

• So They Say

We do not intend that large forces of troops of any member of the UN will remain permanently in Korea, where their presence might be wrongly interpreted and might lead to friction between the republic and neighboring countries.

—Australian foreign minister Percy Spender.

If (war) comes, women should be drafted for civil defense, production and the three services. They have the rights and privileges of government, they should take the responsibilities too.

—Sarah Hughes, president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women.

This goon will be a very sweet goon who kills people only to protect a young girl. That was the secret of my dad's success. You ended up feeling sorry for him.

—Screen actor Lon Chaney, Jr.

We do not want, we abhor a general war, but prudence, our national existence, demands that we be prepared. That we be ready as if we expected it. That is the best guarantee.

—Adm. William F. Halsey.

DISCIPLINED BEYOND TIMIDITY

Before we end this study of the Christian discipline, we must look at another passage on discipline written to the same person, Timothy: "Hence I would remind you to rekindle but divine gift . . . for God has not given us a timid spirit but a spirit of power and love and discipline." (II Timothy 1:6-7, Moffatt.) The first passage (I Timothy 1:5) begins with discipline, and this one ends with discipline. The Christian way begins and ends in discipline—the discipline produces a disciplined life. The discipline may be so hidden in habit and outlook as to be almost unnoticeable, just as one can look straight through revolving blades on a plane which are spinning so fast and so rhythmically as to be unseen. The end of the Christian discipline is to hide it away into habit, into the subconscious, so that the disciplined person appears to be and is spontaneous. A musician's creative spontaneity is co-ordinated discipline which has become second nature.

Paul puts his finger on the thing that dims the spiritual life more than any other: timidity. If I had one gift to give myself and others, I would unhesitatingly give courage. For more people grow dim and need rekindling of the divine gift through lack of courage than through any other thing. First of all, the courage to take from God what He offers. That is the supreme courage: to pay the price and take the gift. That takes courage, for it shifts the whole basis of life from self-sufficiency to God-sufficiency. Then the next step: the courage to face up to the world with this appropriated gift to God and to believe that this and this alone will meet every need—and to say so, even when men are pathetically trying unworkable ways.

When I was traveling in China in 1937, amid sections that were being bombed, this verse came to me again and again: "Whatever happens, be self-possessed, flinch from no suffering, do your work as an evangelist, and discharge all your duties as a minister." (II Timothy 4:5, Moffatt.) Here in America, facing reconstruction, I have to repeat it again and again.

O God, my Father, give me the even courage of Jesus, who went quietly on, untroubled and unafraid, even though the end of the road meant disaster. I do not have to succeed. The failure is only to be true to the highest I know. Success or failure are in Thy hands. I must be true at any price, whether I succeed or fail. Give me the courage to fail, if necessary, doing the highest I know. Amen.

Q. and A.

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Q. My child was in the naval reserve. Without telling them anything about it he joined the Army. What will they do to him when they find out?

A. Take him off the rolls of the naval reservists. He hasn't done anything wrong.

Q. I find that I have to spend most of the allotment money I get paying the bills which my husband runs up. If I refuse to pay these bills can he have my allotment stopped?

A. No. But if he threatens to have it stopped you have to appeal to the Army to force an allotment on him for yourself.

Q. Would a man who has a dishonorable discharge from the Navy be drafted in the Army?

A. No, not if he tells the Army about his dishonorable discharge.

Q. Our regular doctor assured us that our son would not be drafted because of an ear condition. Yet he passed the physical. What can we do about it?

A. Appeal the classification with a letter from your regular doctor.

Q. If a person received a discharge from the Army for a disability not suffered in combat, is that person subject to recall?

A. Not unless he meets draft qualifications.

Treatment for Hives is Simple If its Cause Can be Found

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Hives, or urticaria, is usually considered to be a form of allergy. The condition usually starts suddenly with the appearance on the skin of reddish, swollen spots or lumps of various sizes. There is almost always severe itching not only of the red spots but also of the entire skin.

Frequently the spots disappear almost as fast as they come; often they last only a few hours. However, in some cases urticaria goes on for days or weeks and a chronic condition can occur which does not disappear for months or even years.

Hives may follow the eating of some food to which a person is sensitive. It can also develop after drug or serum has been given, after infection, exposure to heat, furs, insect bites, and many other things. In other words, it is not a single disease but is a peculiar reaction in a sensitive person.

Urticaria differs from many other kinds of allergy in that a sensitive person does not always show a skin reaction when the offending substance is placed in contact with the skin. Often this failure of the skin to respond (a type of testing used in many allergies) makes diagnosis of the cause of hives particularly difficult. Furthermore, no one knows why red spots should appear on the skin as a sign of sensitivity.

In spite of the common difficulty in picking out the cause, treatment is most satisfactory when an accurate identification of the offending substance can be made. If strawberries, shrimp, or some particular drug are found to bring on an attack of hives, it is usually easy to eliminate the offender and so avoid future difficulty. Thus, when the cause can be found and avoided, the problem is solved unless sensitivity develops to some other substance.

13 Lucky Guys by FRANK R. ADAMS

COPR. 1950 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Sgt. Eddie Engstrom commands a squad of men wired out in action. Only when they find themselves in Westway-go, home town of most of them, do they realize they are dead. Only two living beings can see the men: Duke, Eddie's dog, and Margie Lou, the girl Eddie fell in love with after he was dead. Margie Lou can see Eddie when she holds his good luck piece, a Chinese coin, which she found on the bus Eddie used to drive.

XIX

MARGIE LOU laughed. "Nobody's asked me for a date for almost ever and now I'm all tangled up with two for the same day." She put the lucky coin in her uniform coat pocket.

"What do you say, Margie Lou?" Margie Lou didn't say anything. She didn't act as if she had heard. Eddie waited and then repeated the question.

Someone signaled for a stop and a lady got off.

When they were rolling once more Margie Lou said, "If you'd really like to see me later would you mind coming to my house? My aunt's sick—I live with her—but we could sit outside on the front steps. Is that okay?"

"Sure," Eddie agreed. "Any place that we can talk."

"Why don't you say something?" Margie Lou asked a trifle impatiently. "I can't be away from home for—"

She turned her head toward him and stopped suddenly in mid-speech. "Where are you?"

"Right here," said Eddie.

"Where's who?" demanded a stout woman in slacks. "Look where you're going, driver."

"But where's that soldier who was standing just in front of you?" Margie persisted.

"Heck, dearie," answered the over-stuffed passenger, "I didn't notice if there was a soldier there. What's one soldier when there's so many?"

Margie Lou shook her head. "He must have got off at the last stop."

"If he did his slip showed an inch and he was wearin' a darn funny hat with purple feathers on it."

Eddie tumbled to the trouble. "Take my lucky coin out of your pocket and hold it in your hand again, Margie Lou."

But Margie Lou paid no attention to him. She was inclined to be indignant. She muttered, "He was just kidding me."

"My advice is never trust them soldiers, dearie," said the lady. "They're all alike, string you along with hot air and then stand you up."

Eddie was helpless to do anything about it. He couldn't think of any way to make Margie Lou pick up the telephone again.

"End of the line! All out!" shouted Margie Lou. "Watch your step!"

Eddie stood aside, although that was hardly necessary, as the crowded bus emptied itself in front of the brilliantly illuminated entrance to the boatworks.

WHEN the last passenger was gone and Margie Lou was about to close the doors Max Lengel drove up alongside in his battered convertible.

"Hi, Baby," he said gaily. "I thought I could get out here as soon as your bus did. I wanted to make sure about our date for tonight. Is it all hunky-dory?"

Margie Lou did not close the door. "I had sort of an engagement—"

"Who with?"

"A soldier—he's home on leave."

"Soldiers are a dime a dozen. Don't waste your time on a jerk who's apt to get bumped off before you see him again. I'm going to be here right along. Where'll I pick you up?"

"You'd have to call at the house."

"I get it. Want to pretty yourself up. Don't blame you. I like fluffy dresses myself. It's a date."

He drove off before she could say yes or no.

Margie Lou closed the bus door as Eddie bailed out, or maybe a second or two sooner Eddie was mad. He didn't quite know who he was mad at but he certainly was fit to be tied.

EVERYBODY had to show his or her card as well as the photo-identification button in order to get past the two watchmen at the gate. All but Eddie.

It was a place of considerable activity. Old-fashioned arc lights sputtered in front of reflectors high up on poles. A good many women worked in the jobs where it was only necessary to know which end of a nail to hit with a hammer and how to do it without splattering too much blood from the mashed thumbs.

As Eddie remembered it, there had never been more than a score of employees at the boatworks. Now there were hundreds.

Max Lengel, Eddie discovered, was a "set-up man" which gave him sort of a roving commission to inspect and fix machinery all over the yard. He usually made a lot of fussy adjustments which took up a lot of time. He also did considerable boisterous kidding with the younger women. His invariable joke was to warn them not to work so hard or they would be too tired to go riding with him when it was their turn.

"Why, Mr. Lengel," said one of the more shapely laborers, "I don't see now you get the gasoline to run around like you do."

"Easy, if you know the right people like I do. Besides, it don't take much," Max added a wink.

"When there's a pretty girl along I always run out of gas a couple of miles out of town. You can depend on that. But I can usually find some to get home on later. You can depend on that. Sister, I've got cans of gasoline hid all over the county," he boasted.

"Some of it right here in the yards, where the OPA inspector would never think of looking for it. When lighter, just ask me."

HOW CHRISTMAS BEGAN—I

THE ANGEL APPEARS TO MARY

The angel Gabriel was sent from God to a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin Mary, who was espoused to a man whose name was Joseph. The angel said to her, "Hail, thou that are highly favored, the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women."

She was troubled, but the angel said, "Fear not, Mary: for thou hast found favor with God. Thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name Jesus. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God shall give him the throne of his father David: And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever: and of his kingdom there shall be no end."

Then Mary said, "How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?" And the angel answered, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God."

"And thy cousin Elizabeth has also conceived a son in her old age, and this is the sixth month with her, who was called barren.

For with God nothing shall be impossible." Mary went into a city of Juda and saluted Elizabeth. When Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe leaped in her womb. Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Ghost, and she spoke with a loud voice, "Blessed are thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of thy womb."

ELIZABETH GIVES BIRTH

After about three months, Mary returned to her own house. When Elizabeth's full time came, she brought forth a son and said, he shall be called John. And the child grew, and waxed strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his showing to Israel.

Damage Sunday In Two Fires

Three hundred and forty runs have been made by the Sedalia fire department since January 1 up to Sunday night, nearly an average of a run a day. Two of these runs were made Sunday, the first at 2:50 o'clock in the morning and the next at 6:58 that evening.

The fire Sunday morning was to the residence of Fank J. Spaitz, 318 West Tenth street, where an overstuffed divan had caught fire and was destroyed. The loss was estimated at $200 to the contents of the home and $200 to the residence.

The origin of the fire was believed to have been caused from a spark, possibly from a pipe.

A defective flue caused fire at the residence of Carl Newbill, 100 West Henry street, which did $1,000 damage to the residence and about $700 to contents of the home. This fire was Sunday evening.

British Troops Battle With Frenzied Mob

lems raged toward the Catholic convent, where the girl and her Dutch mother were reported in hiding.

They threatened to kidnap the child and burn the convent "if it took all night."

After eight hours, the mobs still were throwing stones and bottles, beating up Europeans, especially Dutchmen, and attacking vehicles.

Several European women were attacked with bottles and sticks and a police officer said there were reports some white children had been kidnapped as hostages for Bertha.

Shots Are Fired
Shots were fired and tear gas bombs hurled as police battled to break up the mobs. Thousands of Moslems flocked to the Big Sultan mosque where priests told them the court decision giving custody of Bertha to her Dutch mother affronted and violated the Mohammedan religion.

Authorities feared the religious outbreak, at a time when the entire Far East is in a ferment, would gravely endanger security and offer an opportunity for Communist sabotage.

Bertha was turned over to Mrs. Adeline Hertogh nine days ago by the supreme court after a prolonged hearing in which Malaysians, Indians and Chinese displayed great interest. The court also annulled the marriage of the child to a Mohammedan.

The mother claimed she gave the child to Che Aminah, Malayan nurse in Java, in 1942, for safekeeping. During the war the Hertoghs were in a Japanese prison camp. The mother lost trace of the child until two years ago. The Malayan foster mother claimed the child had been given to her outright, and had raised her in the Moslem religion. Attorneys for Mrs. Hertogh contended Maria's marriage was intended to circumvent the mother's efforts to get her back.

Correspondent Injured
SINGAPORE, Dec. 11—(P)—One Associated Press correspondent was injured and another was missing tonight in riotous Singapore.

Tom Masterson, 38, chief of the Associated Press bureau, suffered a broken leg and other bodily injuries at the hands of a Moslem mob. Friendly natives picked him up and took him to his residence. Though not critically injured he was taken to a hospital.

Larry Allen, who wrote early accounts of the disorders, was with Masterson at the time of the attack and is missing. The car in which they were travelling had not been found.

Allen, 42, won the Pulitzer prize in 1942 for his war reporting with the British navy in the Mediterranean. He was captured by the Italians in 1942 and later released. His last two assignments before going to Singapore were in Warsaw, Poland and Tel Aviv, Israel.

Pravda Comment On Truman Letter

MOSCOW, Dec. 11—(P)—Pravda today described as "a new scandal connected with Truman" the President's letter to a Washington music critic who had panned his daughter Margaret's singing.

In an article headlined "White House morals," the Communist party organ said the letter was receiving widespread publicity in the American Press.

The Soviet paper reported: "Newspaper trust Scripps Howard news reports a new scandal connected with Truman. According to the paper Truman sent an irritated letter written in bad cursing language to music critic of the Washington Post (Paul) Hume, who gave a negative appraisal of the vocal talent of Truman's daughter Margaret.

"The latter intends to become an opera singer and on Dec. 5 gave a concert in Washington. The music critic of the Washington Post in connection with this published an article which said that the daughter of the President 'almost completely failed to transmit the music' with her singing to the audience."

President Truman's letter threatened to beat up Hume, who had written that Miss Truman's voice was "flat a good deal of the time" and said she "can't sing very well." The Washington Daily News said Mr. Truman wrote Hume would need a new nose if they ever met and that his review sounded "like a frustrated old man who never made a success."

Reduce Rubber Use For Tires

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(P)—The government today ordered a cut on the use of natural rubber in new automobile tires.

The National Production Authority announced that in January and February manufacturers must reduce the consumption of natural rubber by 28 per cent from November levels.

The November quota set by NPA under a previous order was 52,000 tons of natural rubber. The total amount of consumption of both natural and synthetic rubber for the month was 90,000 tons.

NPA said its January and February quotas—despite the reduction in natural rubber use—still remains at approximately 90,000 tons. The cut-back in natural rubber allotments will be made up by additional supplies of synthetic rubber.

Specifically, it said, the natural rubber quota will be 40,000 tons in January and 35,000 tons in February. This represents a 28 per cent reduction for the two months below the 52,000-ton November allotment.

NPA said the order will mean a "major conservation effort in rubber through the recapping of present tires." It explained that the recapping material called "camelback" is made largely of synthetic materials.

The order also will serve to curtail somewhat the manufacture of new tires, since it requires that certain amounts of natural rubber be used in tire manufacture.

The production agency said a new passenger car tire of "popular size" requires 11 pounds of new rubber plus fabric and bead wire.

A recap job, which according to NPA will often double the life of a tire, requires but five pounds of camelback, which is five per cent natural rubber.

New rubber used for military orders is not affected by the new quotas.

Contempt Case Thrown Out By High Court

nist leaders is pending before the high court. They have attacked the legality of the 10-year-old law.

In other actions today the high court:

1. Granted members of the California Senate committee on anti-American activities a hearing in their fight against a $250,000 damage suit charging violation of civil rights. William Patrick Brandhove brought the suit, contending the committee subpoenaed him to hearing on Jan. 29, 1949 for the purpose of suppressing his right of free speech. Brandhove refused to answer committee questions, was arrested on a misdemeanor charge and held in jail from Feb. 1 to Feb. 15, 1949. A trial jury dismissed the case and was dismissed. Appeal papers say Brandhove has admitted being a Communist.

2. Agreed to rule, in a number of separate cases, on the scope of labor unions to seek to win disputes by trying to compel other companies to quit doing business with the firm directly involved in the dispute.

3. Upheld 5-3 wartime orders cancelling the American citizenship of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Ackermann, whose writings at Taylor, Texas, indicated sympathy for Adolf Hitler.

4. Upheld 8-1 Oklahoma's right to fix a minimum price for natural gas taken from the state's Yuyon-Hugoton field.

A 1946 state regulation fixed the price at not less than seven cents a thousand-cubic feet, compared with a previous range of from 3.6 to 5 cents.

5. Agreed to rule on the validity of city ordinances banning door-to-door magazine salesmen, book agents, and other peddlers. At issue is an Alexandria, La. ordinance which bars door bell ringing by salesmen unless they have first obtained permission from the home occupant to call.

Senate Group Disturbed by the Shortage of Wool wooden guns in 1940 and 1941 was tragic. But the prospect of outfitting men in clothing inadequate to protect them from the elements is a greater tragedy still.

"The munitions board was not created to underwrite complacency, to justify shortages or to sanction the deterioration of America's strength," the report adds angrily.

The report also comes up with some ideas about the agriculture department's huge stocks of surplus food.

"Food supplies are fuel for any endurance struggle, and the struggle between the west and east today may well be decided by the endurance of the competing economies," points out the Senate report. "Conserved with caution and utilized with prudence, our agriculture surpluses might well be of enormous benefit to the present struggle."

The Johnson sub-committee recommends feeding the armed services from our surpluses and also trading food for strategic materials from other countries.

Double-Butting of Butter The department of defense is presently contemplating purchase of about 10 million pounds of surplus butter," the sub-committee notes. "If this purchase is consummated, the Commodity Credit Corporation will still have on hand 170 million pounds of butter—over a two-year supply for an armed force of approximately three million men. CCC's stocks of dried eggs, dried milk, cheese and beans are far in excess of the armed forces' contemplated needs for the next several years.

"This makes it imperative, we believe, that the closest cooperation be maintained between the defense and agriculture agencies," the report continues. "While this cooperation has in some aspects been good, there is room for improvement."

Pointing out that the agriculture department warped the munitions board to stockpile wool as long ago as February 11, 1947, the report declares: "The munitions board failed to heed the warnings of the department of agriculture. The board neither stockpiled wool nor listed wool as a strategic material. We hope sufficient wool may yet be acquired to overcome the folly of the munitions board's improvident course."

The report also criticizes the board for not stockpiling cotton lint, long-staple cotton and various naval stores.

church after the service.

The way Herndon explained it: "A door opened and a group of men came out. The next thing I knew they were slugging Vern. He tried to protect his cameras. I went to Vern's assistance. The first thing I knew they were slugging me. There were at least 10 of them.

"They yelled, 'Get out of town—we're going to tar you!'"

"We didn't strike back—they were all around us. They were going for Vern's cameras.

"Some other people came out of the church and watched."

Herndon said he and Vern finally reached their automobiles and drove away.

Steed said the two magazine representatives had been asked not to take pictures while the church was having services and the fracas started when they tried to photograph the congregation as it left the church. Steed said he understood "only a few licks" were passed. He added that Vern and Herndon made no complaint to his office.

Views Varied As to Business

guess accurately now how this is going to work.

Rumors Working

And for still another, this month finds the rumor mill working overtime. It's a rare day that some rumor doesn't run through Wall Street. "Full mobilization within 48 hours" is a favorite one. "Wage and price controls ordered within two days" is another.

By the time the deadline expires another rumor with a new zero-hour is being given a play.

If the current crop of year-end statements is blighted by the uncertainties and the rumors which mark this month, the loss to the country may be sustained with some show of courage.

But the uncertainty and the rumors are no joke to the businessman. He literally can't tell which way to jump. And he has to guess, and guess well, if his business is to prosper, and not go under.

Some merchants who had a little too much scare-buying of their own last summer are worried now. They ordered stock widely and in volume. Some of them are wondering if they can move this stock off their shelves before it is obsolete. Pre-Christmas sales in some stores reflect this worry over heavy inventories.

Some manufacturers are wondering if they can keep production high in the face of raw material cutbacks for civilian use. The letting of defense orders which would take up the slack. Many metal-working companies are predicting that next month will see machines idle and workers laid off because of this.

Others expect to be told what defense work they are to do and what civilian goods production they must drop. But they don't know when the order will come, or how soon they must start retooling.

Close Study is Being Given Relative to a National Emergency retary of the Treasury Snyder, Alan Valentine, economic stabilization director; Michael V. Dill, price administrator, and Cyrus Ching, chairman of the Wage Stabilization Board.

Collet told a reporter the idea was for the "old timers" to review some of the problems they ran into.

Discuss Wages, Prices

Early said Mr. Truman's conference with his economic advisers would be "limited to the questions of wage and price controls and methods and procedures of applying such controls."

He said these wage-price matters were gone over at the meeting with the Democratic congressional "Big Four" and that Mr. Truman also discussed with them the question of issuing a declaration of national emergency.

Early refused to indicate when a decision as to putting on wage-price controls would be made, although other White House sources said Mr. Truman now regards them as inevitable.

These sources, asking not to be named, said a declaration of a national emergency probably would be made later this week.

Early, asked if the president believes wage and price controls are inevitable, replied:

"I would say that there is a large school of thought that price and wage scales are inevitable."

He indicated that when they come that they would apply to cost of living items as well as industrial materials.

This was in response to a suggestion that the government's chief concern now was over the rise in the cost of defense production.

Belief That Insanity Faked

AUGSBURG, Germany, Dec. 11.—(P)—A doctor testified today he believes Elsie Koch is faking insanity to escape her trial for concentration camp atrocities.

The "Red Witch of Buchenwald" was carried from her jail cell to Augsburg hospital in a screaming frenzy last night.

Her jail warden reported she shrieked, "I am guilty, I am a sinner," as she was taken from her cell.

Two doctors told the court today they did not regard Frau Koch as insane.

Her trial on charges of causing murder and atrocities at the Buchenwald concentration camp continued today despite her absence as medical authorities investigated her mental condition.

Court officials said under German court procedure Frau Koch's trial could continue until next Monday without her being present. If she could not appear by then, a new trial would have to be ordered before a new judge and jury.

General MacArthur Finds High Morale in The Frontline Troops

order and with unbroken cohesion among the various components. Every possible advantage has been taken of the fortunate premature disclosure of surreptitious enemy buildup operations designed to encompass our destruction by one massive stroke.

"This enemy plan has failed. All our units are intact and the losses inflicted on the enemy have been staggering—estimated by local commanders in the field as high as 10 to 1 compared to our own."

MacArthur continued:

"The enemy's claims of United Nations losses in men and material are fantastically exaggerated. We are being forced to give ground but our fighting capacity has suffered little general impairment."

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead reported from Seoul that MacArthur landed at nearby Kimp'o airfield and conferred there with Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, commander of the U. S. Eighth army and Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, commander of the U. S. Fifth air force.

It. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, commander of the Far East air forces, accompanied MacArthur on the flight.

A marine medical officer compared marine casualties to those the corps suffered in taking Tarawa in World War II—3,168 men. The marines were accompanied in their bloody retreat by two regiments of the seventh infantrymen and about 100 British Royal marines.

AP Correspondent Jack MacBeth, the only wire service news man who was with the trapped force, said more than 4,000 wounded were flown from the makeshift Koto airstrip on the escape route.

"Two days ago," he wrote, "watched nearly 200 bodies nosed into a big grave by a bulldozer. There was no time for more elaborate arrangements."

MacBeth said the leathernecks "walked off 12 days of freezing hell, full of fight after a gory nightmare" in "one of the tightest retreats in military history."

Russia Directs More Reds to Korea

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 11.—(P)—The Chinese Nationalist Central News Agency said today Russia had directed the Chinese Reds to send more troops to Korea.

The purpose, the agency said, was to wipe out United Nations forces there or to force the United States to tie up a big army in Korea.

It did not give the source.

Two newspapers which usually reflect government views clamored for the lifting of President Truman's ban on Nationalist operations against the Red China mainland.

They said a nationalist attack would relieve Chinese Red pressure in Korea and would fight what they called Soviet Russia's policy of divide and conquer.

Bad weather and a move by the U. S. army to buy up several thousand cases are blamed for the price jump.

Wiley Post's Widow Finds Peace in Texas

Tires of City And Gets Entirely Off Beaten Paths

By EDWARD ANDERSON (Lubbock Avalanche-Journal) RALLS, Tex. Dec. 10.—(P)—The widow of the first man to fly solo around the world has found the seclusion she wants on an obscure farm on the lonely Texas plains. Her name is Mae Post. Her husband, Wiley Post, crashed to his death with humorist Will Rogers in Alaska in 1935.

There is no telephone on the flatland farm. The nearest highway is four desolate miles away.

"I have wanted to live off the unbeaten paths," says Mae. "I haven't wanted to attract attention. I tried the city for a while, but it wasn't for me. I have been on this farm here almost since it happened."

"It" refers to the crash of Post's red monoplane into an icy stream near Point Barrow, Alaska.

Wiley's pioneer monoplane, the "Winnie Mae" is now in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington, D. C., near Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's "Spirit of St. Louis." Lindbergh was the first to span the Atlantic alone. Post, the little Texan with the eye patch, was the first to fly alone around the world.

Wed In Elopement

Both Mae the Wiley came from Texas farm families. Mae and the short, chunky Texan with the unruly hair and love of the air met in 1927 at Maysville, Okla. They eloped.

"We had a struggle in those first years," Mrs. Post recalls. "We lived out of a suit case, so to speak. There were times when we traded milk bottles for potatoes. Sometimes we'd go to the home of Wiley's parents to live. "Wiley began working in the oil fields. I heard him say it more than once: 'I'd give my right eye to have a plane.' Then it happened. He lost his right eye when an oil rig line hit him. With the insurance money he bought his first plane, an OX-Canuck."

Wearing the eye patch that was to become a symbol, Post began making a precarious living by parachute jumps at Texas and Oklahoma fairs. Then came F. C. Hall, wealthy and air-minded oil man of Chickasha, Okla. He wanted Wiley to help him design a racing plane—and fly it.

With Hall financing the construction, Post went to the Lockheed-Vega plant at Burbank, Calif. The result was the "Winnie Mae." The small craft was named after Hall's daughter Winnie Mae.

The "Winnie Mae" soon was in the nation's headlines. A flight from Los Angeles to Chicago in nine hours, nine minutes and four seconds brought $7,500 prize money.

"It was a lot of money in those days," Mae recalls. "At least, was a lot for us."

Then the "Winnie Mae" winged around the world in 1931 with Post at the controls and Harold Gatty as navigator. At the take-off from Tulsa, Post and Will Rogers met for the first time.

The flight—before the A-bomb numbed the people's emotions—electrified the world. Newspapers published extras on the eight-day, 15-hour and 15-minute flight which ended July 1, 1931.

Two years after the triumphant ride up New York's Fifth avenue, Post made a second world-girdling flight—alone. He beat his own record with Gatty by coming back in seven days, 18 hours and 49 minutes. President Franklin D. Roosevelt was among those congratulating the courageous Texan.

Then began the comradeship between Post and Rogers. Rogers liked to fly and Post became his pilot. Mae recalls:

"Mr. Rogers wanted to find a ranch for his son. Once we flew down to Mexico and back up into Colorado and Utah. He was a character. He carried little more than a toothbrush and that portable typewriter. 'I have to write my pieces for the paper, you know,' he'd say.

"He'd wear a suit until he decided he needed a change and then simply throw it away and buy another. On these trips he'd sing and sing. He had a high tenor voice. I'd listen to him for hours. He would want Wiley to land in the most difficult places. Sometimes I think he thought Wiley could have made a landing on a mountain top and then take off again."

Mystery surrounded the beginning of the last flight of Rogers and Post in 1935. There were reports Moscow and the Kremlin—and an interview with Premier Stalin—was their goal.

Only a few curious natives welcomed the small monoplane at Point Barrow, Alaska. A lone Eskimo found the wreckage of the craft which plunged shortly after take-off into an icy stream. The world was shocked.

Waited Often For Return

"I had waited often for him and he had always come back," recalls the dark-eyed widow. "Now he was not coming back. I wanted to go up there to where it happened. I guess everybody gets used to a thing, can stand it. No, he wasn't coming back. I decided to go to school. I started in business college. But I had no heart for shorthand and typing.

"My mother and father were farming. I sold Wiley's plane to the Smithsonian Institution and bought a farm. Land out here then was only $30 an acre. I bought two half-section farms. The depression was still on and many were quitting these dryland farms.

"Now you can hardly look at land around here for less than $130 an acre. I know little about farming myself. We are planning on drilling for water, to try irrigation. The question now is whether we will find it."

Except for a rare visitor, her only company on the farm is the Mexican family which works the land. Mae wears cotton dresses or slacks on the farm, but is a trim figure in a wool suit when she visits town.

On the wall above the divan in the neat living room of her plain, country home is a painting of the "Winnie Mae" in the air. On another wall is a picture of her husband and Will Rogers in Alaska just before the crash.

Outside the wind blows over wide fields of picked cotton. Dust swirls. A white chicken flutters across the barren yard. The darkening skies herald a Texas norther — that Texas phenomenon which sends the mercury tumbling

The widow twisted the plain gold wedding band on her work-worn finger. She has never taken it off. "I wear it, I guess, for sentiment."

THE A B C's OF DRY CLEANING

By Doc Bob, Your Dry Cleaner

When a textile manufacturer thinks through to the wearer of his fabrics, and realizes that garments made of his fabrics will have to be cleaned, the National Institute of Cleaning and Dyeing is willing to study his fabrics, so as to advise member cleaners how to handle them and give any special precautions that may be necessary. The National Institute has had some notable experiences of what can be accomplished by the co-operation of textile manufacturers and the dry cleaning industry. They have not only made pleasant relations between the two groups, but most important, they have contributed to the lasting satisfaction of consumers in the garments they purchase.

Red Sox Loom Favorites to Take Pennant

Pull Five-Man Trade And Get Two Pitchers

By Joe Reichler
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 11—(P)—Once again, as in the past three seasons, the fence-busting Red Sox rule a strong favorite to win the American league pennant — and with good reason.

Already strengthened by the acquisition of Lou Boudreau, the once peerless shortstop, the Red Sox yesterday completed a $500,000 five-man trade with Chicago that helped where it was needed most — pitching.

The important deal, first to be consummated at the winter baseball meetings here, brings to Boston a pair of front line hurlers — left-hander Bill Wright and right-hander Ray Scarborough — in exchange for rightfielder Allen Zarilla and pitchers Joe Dobson and Dick Littlefield.

All except the rookie Littlefield are veterans of many campaigns. Littlefield, a 24-year-old southpaw, came to the Red Sox from Birmingham last August and finished with a 2-2 record. Both sides insist no money figured in the deal.

Wright, 28, won 10 and lost 16 for the second division White Sox last season. Scarborough, who came to the Sox in a six-man trade with Washington last May, wound up with a 13-18 record. The latter, known as a Red Sox killer over the years, is 32. He has been credited with knocking the Red Sox out of two pennants. He beat them in decisive last ditch games in 1948 and 1949. Boston was beaten for the flag by one game each season.

Zarilla, 30, had a fine year with Boston hitting .325 in 130 games and knocking in 74 runs. Dobson, 34, had a 15-10 record last year. His lifetime mark against Chicago is 17-6.

The deal, on the eve of the start of the major league meetings today, left the leaders of Detroit, Cleveland and the New York Yankees utterly dismayed.

"That makes it rugged," said a gloomy Red Rofe, the Tiger manager. "If the Red Sox can't win now they had better give up."

General manager Hank Greenburg of the Indians could hardly believe his ears when informed of the trade.

"I was afraid of this," he muttered. "I thought Boston might get Wright but I never dreamed they would get Scarborough, too." Casey Stengel, pilot of the world champion Yankees, attempted to hide his chagrin when he said:

"On the surface, it looks like a good deal for Boston. But I'm not worrying about it. Wright was Chicago's best pitcher. But Lane (general manager Frank Lane) said all along that he would not trade Wright. He tried to get him but failed. Boston didn't lose anything in the outfield. All Steve O'Neill has as a replacement for Zarilla is Billy Goodman. He is only the league's leading hitter, that's all."

Lincoln U. to Play Shurtleff Tuesday Night

Lincoln's Band to Give Concert And Play During Game

Tuesday night at Liberty Park Convention Hall the Lincoln University Tigers will meet the Shurtleff College five in which promises to be one of the high lights of the 1950-51 basketball seasons in Sedalia. The Shurtleff five is reported to have been the champions of the conference in their territory and should give Lincoln stiff competition.

The Lincoln five is very good at the bounce, pass and dribble game too and can turn on the heat when the going gets tough. The Shurtleff team will be stopping at the Bothwell hotel during their stay in the city.

A preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock between the Hubbard high school Tigers and the Dalton vocational high school blue Jays promises to be a thriller. The Hubbard boys are very anxious to break into the victory column and the Dalton boys beaten once this year after several wins are anxious to stay on the victory trail. Dalton holds a victory over the Lincoln University high five who are the state champions of last year and each competing team Tuesday night features a team "spark plug" in the play of big Carl Whitney for Hubbard and Dennis Jaco for Dalton.

The 70-piece Lincoln University band will provide the game color before game time and between halves. Mr. Marshall Penn is director of this band.

Tickets for the game are on sale at the following places in Sedalia: Wilson's Sport Center, Smith's Barber Shop, the Davis Cafe, Abbott's Recreation Parlor, and Robinson's Cafe. All tickets sold to the canceled Lincoln University-Samuel Houston College game will be honored at the Liberty Park Hall Tuesday night.

The Central Business college tournament which will be held this Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at convention hall will feature several outstanding athletes, not only in basketball, but also in other sports.

On the Semmons Furniture Co. team from Columbia are Kenneth Bounds, who was an outstanding end on the Tiger football team, Don Stroot 6 foot, 8 inch center from last year's Tiger basketball team, Gene Ackerman, end from the Tiger football squad, Fred Hulse, local Sedalia boy and former end on the Tiger football squad. Also on this squad is little Cyril Delay, 5 foot, 7 inch guard from last year's independent team. He will be remembered by all who saw him as being able to sink that ball from almost any spot on the court and especially on the long ones. Thomas A. Turner is the coach and manager for the Semmons Furniture Co.

On the Superior Cleaners team from Warrensburg appear the names of football players, as well as established basketball stars. Bill Lumpe from Warsaw, Dale Boyd, who has long been known in independent basketball circles; Ben Ireland, the man with the left hand hook shot; Jim Egbert, local Sedalia boy, who has made a name for himself on the baseball diamond, football field, and basketball court. Ben Ireland is the coach and manager of the Cleaners this year.

On the local Moose club roster are the names of John Mals, who this year has been proving himself quite a man in the scoring column; Dale Whitfield, Dean Edwards, who can control the backboards with a great degree of success; Bob Schultz, Chester Buthe and Jerry Labus from last year's Sacred Heart team. The team is coached this year by Bud Michaelis, who also gets in some good licks on the team.

Thursday night at 6:30 the Moose club will entertain the Clinton Elks. At 8 Central Business college takes on Eldon. At 9:30 Semmons Furniture of Columbia will meet the Superior Cleaners of Warrensburg and in the final game of the evening the MoPac Dynamoes meet the California team.

The Central Business college team will leave from the Griddle tonight at 6:45 to go to Houstonia. The game will be played at the Houstonia high school gymnasium starting at 8 o'clock.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11—(P)—The third-finishing Boston Red Sox had the American League's 1950 batting champion, versatile Billy Goodman, and also copped the team batting title with a .302 average.

Official statistics released last week-end credited Goodman, who played every infield position and also the outfield for the Red Sox, with a plate mark of .354. That was 14 points better than runner-up George Kell, star Detroit third-sacker, who was dethroned after winning the 1949 crown by an eye-lash margin over Boston's Ted Williams.

But Kell, who finished with 340, was a lot more active at the plate than Goodman, making a league-leading 641 trips compared with Billy's 424. The American League requires a minimum of 400 AB's for title consideration.

Boston's team average was 20 points ahead of the .282 posted jointly by the pennant-winning New York Yankees and second-place Tigers.

The Red Sox also were first in hits, total bases, doubles and runs-batted in. They were second in triples and homers.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11—(P)—The third-finishing Boston Red Sox had the American League's 1950 batting champion, versatile Billy Goodman, and also copped the team batting title with a .302 average.

Official statistics released last week-end credited Goodman, who played every infield position and also the outfield for the Red Sox, with a plate mark of .354. That was 14 points better than runner-up George Kell, star Detroit third-sacker, who was dethroned after winning the 1949 crown by an eye-lash margin over Boston's Ted Williams.

But Kell, who finished with 340, was a lot more active at the plate than Goodman, making a league-leading 641 trips compared with Billy's 424. The American League requires a minimum of 400 AB's for title consideration.

Boston's team average was 20 points ahead of the .282 posted jointly by the pennant-winning New York Yankees and second-place Tigers.

The Red Sox also were first in hits, total bases, doubles and runs-batted in. They were second in triples and homers.

Young Giant Sets Record in Play At Kansas City

By Skipped Patiek

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 11—(P)—Big Seven Conference basketball will continue their play against opponents from coast to coast this week with the "leaning tower" of Kansas—Clyde Lovellette—very much in the limelight.

Lovellette, a Mobile giant of 6 feet 8½ inches and 230-plus pounds, pumped in 32 points in leading Kansas to a 61-41 victory over St. Joseph's in Philadelphia last Saturday. The mark set a record for most points in one game at Convention Hall by a visiting player.

The big junior, who now has an average of 26.3 points in leading Kansas to victory in its first three games, will head the Jayhawkers against St. John's in Madison Garden tomorrow and against Kentucky's Wildcats at Lexington Saturday.

The Missouri Tigers, who surprised Madison Square Garden customers by upsetting City College of New York, last season N. C. A. A. and National Invitation champions, 54-37, will try to hand Ohio State the same kind of medicine at Columbus, Ohio, tonight.

Coach Sparky Stalcup's Missourians gave a fancy exhibition of ball control and spot shooting in handing C. C. N. Y. its first defeat in 13 games. Little Bud Heinemann bucketed 19 points and big Bill Stauffer came through with 15.

In other games Saturday night Kansas State opened its new field house with a 66-56 victory over Utah State; Iowa State was beaten by Drake, 65-47; Nebraska was topped by Washington of Seattle, 71-53, and Colorado lost to Colorado A. and M., 48-42.

The week's schedule:
Tonight—Missouri at Ohio State, Nebraska vs. California at San Francisco, Minnesota at Oklahoma, Utah State at Iowa State.

Tuesday—Kansas at St. John's (N.Y.), Nebraska vs. Santa Clara at San Francisco, Wichita at Kansas State.

Thursday—Wyoming at Colorado, S. C. U. at Missouri.
Friday—Colorado at Wyoming.
Saturday—Indiana at Kansas State, Kansas at Kentucky.

Favors Waiver Of Foul Shots

'Phog' Allen Says It Fits in With 12-Foot Basket

By Orlo Robertson

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11—(P)—Dr. Forest (Phog) Allen, never at a loss for ways of changing the game of basketball, elaborated today on his latest innovation—the waiving of foul shots.

It all fits in with the 12-foot basket, return with rotation of the center jump and control of the ball by the team fouled after a successful free throw. All advocated by the veteran coach from the university of Kansas.

Before going into Allen's reason for waiving foul shots it should be explained he believes it is a good policy only when his six-foot, nine-inch center, Clyde Lovellette, is on the floor.

Under the present rule Phog strongly believes the team fouled is penalized since the other team obtains possession of the ball if the free throw is made.

"That makes the free throw too cheap," he declared.

The Kansas team waived 15 foul shots and made good on 8 out of 13 attempted in triumphing St. Joseph's 60-41 here Saturday night.

"But our records show out of the 15 waived we turned five of them into field goals after taking the ball out of bounds," he said.

"That's ten points. And I doubt if we would have made that many points from the foul line if we had taken the free shots and five out of 15 is low for us this year."

"With a big boy like Lovellette on the court we maintain possession of the ball and that is what counts in this game, especially if you end up putting the ball through the hoop."

Allen said his object in waiving the foul shot, even at the start of the game, is to impress on the rules committee and others connected with the sport that a team fouled should not be penalized as it is now by giving up possession of the ball.

"I hope it will not be long until a team fouled not only gets the shot but takes possession out of bounds, regardless of whether the point is missed or made," he said.

"And then I would rotate the center jump after each field goal with the rotation named before the start of the game. This, with the 12-foot basket, would minimize the importance of the big man."

"And don't think just because we have Lovellette that I am not still for the 12-foot basket. I would also place it two feet farther out of the floor to give more room in which to maneuver behind the goal."

Allen also would abolish the rule banishing a player after five personal fouls.

"Give the team fouled possession out of bounds after the foul shot and you'll see coaches going all out to eliminate fouling, especially the deliberate kind of rule infractions."

Would Bar Louis From The Ring

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 11—(P)—John (Ox) Da Grosa, Pennsylvania athletic commissioner, is seeking to bar Joe Louis from any more fights, "in the best interests of boxing" and of the ex-champion himself.

Da Grosa disclosed last night that he has started a move to keep Louis out of the ring in Pennsylvania and will ask the National Boxing Association to do likewise.

He asserted the aging Louis's scheduled fight with Freddie Be-shore in Detroit Jan. 3 should be called for the "health, welfare and future" of the one-time brown bomber.

Moreover, he said, permanent retirement of Louis would also be "in the best interests of boxing."

Da Grosa cited that Pennsylvania, a member of the NBA, has barred two other boxers—former lightweight champions Lew Jenkins and Bob Montgomery—from fighting in this state "for the same reasons."

He said the three-man Pennsylvania athletic commission will review the matter today and probably send a petition to NBA Commissioner Abe Greene.

Suggest Early Food Shopping

Ample Repast For Christmas at a Nominal Cost

When you are doing your early Christmas shopping don't overlook your grocery list. This is the advice to housewives from the National Association of Retail Grocers.

Last minute, hurried shopping often works to the disadvantage of the customer, according to Mrs. R. M. Kiefer of Chicago, NARGUS secretary-manager. Early shopping will assure housewives top quality products, she added.

"The housewife who waits until late Friday or Saturday, (December 22 and 23) to shop may find foods pretty much picked over," she said, "and some items she wants may be gone."

Mrs. Kiefer advised placing orders for holiday poultry as early as possible.

"Thursday (December 21) is not too early to bring home turkeys and chickens to store in the refrigerator," she said. "Those with deep freeze units, of course, can store fowl well in advance of the holiday."

Turkeys this year, Mrs. Kiefer pointed out, are quite reasonable and will be plentiful in all sizes. A turkey can be obtained in whole sizes as small as six pounds and also in convenient cut-up pieces.

She also advised shopping early for fresh vegetables, citrus fruits, dry groceries and special items for hors d'oeuvres and other festive trimmings. Cheeses, nuts, oils and salad dressing and pie fillings can be purchased well in advance of Christmas.

The housewife who plans her meal carefully and shops early should have little difficulty fitting a Christmas dinner into her food budget, Mrs. Kiefer said, citing the recent survey by the National Association of Retail Grocers of key areas throughout the nation to determine how much a holiday dinner at home will cost.

While these low-priced meals are not the most sumptuous of holiday repasts, she added, still they are ample and substantial Christmas dinners.

The following show the results of the NARGUS survey:

A typical meal with ample serving for four will range in price from a simple $4.58 chicken dinner in New York to $8.84 for a deluxe dinner in Des Moines, Iowa, with Los Angeles, California, offering a complete turkey dinner for as low as $5.95.

The sample meal reported from all sections in the NARGUS survey varied only in the weight of chickens or turkeys. The menu consists of chicken or turkey, cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes, tomato and lettuce salad, celery, mince pie and coffee, and includes an allowance of 73 cents for cream bread butter and salad dressing.

Chicken Dinner At $4.58
New York's $4.58 chicken dinner was the lowest of the areas surveyed. In the same area a six-pound turkey dinner will cost $6.18. In Des Moines, Iowa, a chicken dinner along with the other menu items will add up to $6.19, with a turkey dinner costing $8.84.

Waco, Texas, provides a five-pound chicken dinner for $4.67 and an eight-pound turkey dinner for $6.98. Toledo, Ohio, reports a complete holiday dinner for with a six-pound chicken for $5.59.

On the west coast, there was a variation in costs between San Francisco and Los Angeles. A complete dinner with a five-pound chicken would cost $4.97 in Los Angeles and $5.88 in San Francisco.

cisco. With an eight-pound turkey, the meal would cost $5.94 in Los Angeles and $7.78 in San Francisco. Seattle, Washington, will serve a chicken dinner for $4.84 and turkey for $6.01.

Miami, Florida, reports a festive Christmas holiday meal with chicken for $5.35 and a turkey dinner for $5.73.

iciency in food and maintenance of high morale among the people.

This development must be costing Nehru much heart-burning. He has been pursuing the principles of peace taught by Gandhi, whose faithful disciple Nehru was for many years. The prime minister, like the little Mahatma, has been stubborn in his peace stand.

The reaction of India's sister state, Pakistan, hasn't yet been announced. These two big nations have had some bitter differences which at times have come close to dangerous blows. However, peace negotiations have been going on between them, and good results have been reported.

Anyway, in the event of attack by an outsider on either of these nations, one would expect them to stand together. Between them they have a population estimated at more than 430,000,000 (India, 360,185,000 and Pakistan 70,103,000)—almost as big as China's estimated 463,500,000.

The partition of the Indian peninsula into two states, in 1947 resulted in a division of the armed forces which had been created by Britain. Approximately two thirds went to India and the rest to Pakistan.

The strength of the Indian army hasn't been announced late, but the figure in Mri was given as 500,000, plus a small navy and air force. Pakistan's figures are her own private affair.

However, what we do know is that India ranks eighth among the

Mr. Cannon says he's seen a lot of these young, high powered fellows just burn themselves out, while folks that know how to live never seemed to get old. Mr. Cannon says that since he has been taking HADACOL he feels as spry as a 16-year-old. Mr. Cannon found he was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron.

Mr. Cannon was very proud to give us this statement: "My job as crossing watchman for the Wabash Railroad keeps me in one place and I don't have a chance to get much exercise. I seem to get gas on my stomach and then I lose my appetite. Many times I have had nervous spells and been unable to sleep at night. Then one day I heard how other folks were being helped by HADACOL. Now the gas on my stomach has vanished, my appetite is first rate and I get a good night's sleep and those nervous spells? I very seldom have them any more at all. I think HADACOL is mighty fine—just look what it has done for me."

The most important thing about HADACOL is that you get Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up blood (when iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

Remember HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals) as well as that general run-down condition and vague aches and pains when they are due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only One Genuine HADACOL Don't go through life suffering those vague aches and pains it caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL. ## W. S. Grother Head of Farm Placement

Four Counties Are Under Jurisdiction In This Section

The Sedalia office of the Missouri State Employment Service, 500½ South Ohio avenue, has announced that William S. Grother has been appointed farm placement representative for the four counties served by the Sedalia office, Benton, Johnson, Morgan and Pettis.

In carrying out his duties Mr. Grother will appoint key persons throughout each county who are interested in the farmer's labor needs, as volunteer farm placement representatives.

The appointment of volunteer representative as part of a plan developed by the Missouri State Employment Service throughout Missouri, is no more than a farm labor exchange, where farm operators can go to get farm labor and where workers can go to get jobs.

If the farmer's needs cannot be met locally, the order for workers will be turned over to the Missouri State Employment Service in Sedalia and workers will be sent in from other areas where a surplus of farm workers exists. The same is true of workers wanting farm work. Where none is available in their local area, and if they are willing to leave, they will be considered for jobs in labor shortage areas.

Volunteers Appointed

To date the following persons have been appointed as volunteer farm placement representatives and will serve in their respective community without compensation:

Pettis county: Jim Wiley, care of Wiley's grocery, Hughesville; Lee Hudson, care Hudson grocery, LaMonte; Elroy A. Lemke, care of Lemke grocery, Smithton; Jim Rissler, care Rissler service station, Houstonia; C. A. Wisdom, care Farmers and Merchants bank at Green Ridge.

Benton county: Raymond Harris, care MFA, Cole Camp; Duard Scott, care Scott's Motor Service, Frisette; R. G. Carney, care Carney Hardware, Lincoln; Miss Blanche Grissam, care MFA at Warsaw.

Morgan county: Glenn G. Gardner, care Gardner Hardware, Barnett; Melvin Hatfield, care MFA, Florence; M. A. Fischer, care MFA, Stover; Tommy Vuleman, care Vuleman Feed Co., Syracuse; Bert Francis, care MFA, Versailles.

Johnson county: Guy Goode, care Goode & Hartman store, Centerville; O'Bannon Marshall, care Goodnews feed store, Knob Noster; Claude L. Rymer, care Holden Furniture & Supply Co., Holden; J. L. West, Farm Bureau agent, Warrensburg.

Farmers and workers alike are urged to take advantage of this program. This service is free to both the farmers and the workers. If you need either a full time or part time farm job, contact the volunteer representative serving your area—he is interested in your farm labor problems.

Mystery Farm Pictures in Central Missouri---

Is this your farm?

Most of the readers of the Democrat-Capital have been following this series of weekly Mystery Farm Pictures with considerable interest.

The pictures that appear in this space in Monday's Democrat and Tuesday morning's Capital were taken sometime ago by an aerial photographer. The pictures were not shot with the knowledge of whose farm it was. It was a random job; a picture here and a picture there.

To date there have been over sixty-two Mystery Farm Pictures published, most of which have been claimed by the occupants and owners of the various farms. Yours may be next. Watch for it!

total, and 281 million bushels of the 1949 figure.

Eldon R. Burke, field secretary for the Council of Relief Agencies Licensed for Operation in Germany (CRALOG), called his thanks to American farmers for the 1500 tons (60 carloads) of wheat, corn, soybeans, lard, honey, and other foods, contributed from 18 states.

CROP's Friendship Food Ship left Chicago for Germany on United Nations Day, October 24.

Burke, and leaders of co-ordinated relief agencies in Europe said, "The many thanks of the homeless and needy people who will benefit by your charity knows no bounds. The need is still great. May rural Americans, through their churches, continue to share with those in need."

Crop Loans Less Than Past Year

Pettis County farmers have about 28,000 bushels of the 1950 grain and oilseed crops under government price-support loans or purchase agreements, said the Pettis County Production and Marketing Administration committee. This is substantially less than the bushels of the 1949 crop which were under price support at this time last year.

Wheat accounts for 11,048 bushels of the 1950 county total of grain under loan.

Other 1950 crops in the county which have been put under loans through the months of October and November include: Oats—5,372 bushels; soybeans—5,820 bushels; corn—5,586 bushels; and red clover seed—4,203 pounds.

Loans are available on 1950 produced wheat, oats, soybeans and clover seeds through January 31, 1952; and on 1950 produced corn through May 31, 1951.

For the nation as a whole, farmers through October had under price support about 189 million bushels of 1950 crop wheat, barley, oats, rye, flaxseed, soybeans, corn and grain sorghums. This was a little more than half the comparable 1949 total of 354 million bushels. Wheat accounted for 142 million bushels of the 1950 total, and 281 million bushels of the 1949 figure.

Eldon R. Burke, field secretary for the Council of Relief Agencies Licensed for Operation in Germany (CRALOG), called his thanks to American farmers for the 1500 tons (60 carloads) of wheat, corn, soybeans, lard, honey, and other foods, contributed from 18 states.

The mystery farm picture that appeared in the Sedalia Democrat on November 13th and in the Sedalia Capital November 14 was that of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer DeWitt, Beaman.

The farm consists of 266 acres and has been in the DeWitt family for nearly 100 years. It is part of a section of land bought from the government by Mr. DeWitt's grandfather.

Mr. DeWitt's father, the late Rev. Joseph DeWitt, was a well known Baptist minister.

Mr. DeWitt does general farming and raises a number of hogs as well as building a herd of Hereford cattle. He has 90 acres of pasture enclosed with new hog tight fence. He is fencing other sections of his farm at the present time.

Mrs. DeWitt, the former Miss Cora Brady, taught at Olive Branch school for seven years.

Progress in Better Land Use is Made

Larger Acreage Is Treated in 1950 With Fertilizer

Achievements in the field of conservation during this past year show that considerable progress has been made by Pettis county farmers in providing for better land use under the Agricultural Conservation Program.

The county Production and Marketing Administration committee, nearing the end of another program year, recently took stock of these indicated conservation gains and said that every person in the county should feel proud that he plays a vital part in this basis program.

The objects of ACP is to conserve the soil and water resources and provide an abundance of food and fiber for the nation. "Farmers of Pettis county are to be commended," the committee said, "for fulfilling this objective and contributing toward a better standard of living for everyone." Farmer efforts in achieving better land use have been encouraged by farm-elected community and county PMA committeemen on the basis of sound judgment, practical experience, and a knowledge of local problems.

Particularly outstanding in Pettis county this past year were the number of acres treated with a heavy application of limestone and fertilizer and seeded under the pasture improvement program. This practice has been carried out according to specifications 36 farms on a total of 270 acres. Indications are that this number will be greatly increased this next year.

Limestone Applied

In dealing with the application of the proper amount of plant food to replenish food elements taken from the soil, Pettis county farmers have applied approximately 41,000 tons of limestone, 800 tons rock phosphate and 1600 tons of fertilizer under the program.

In regard to water management practices, Pettis county farmers constructed 110 miles of standard terraces, 9 miles of diversion terraces, 4 miles of ditching, 70 terrace outlets which its is estimated will carry water from terraces over an area of 2,800 acres. One hundred eighty ponds for livestock water have been constructed this year.

These figures, although impressive, do not necessarily illustrate the total amount of conservation achieved in the county during the past year, since most farmers carry out conservation practices in excess of the amount for which they are approved under the Agricultural Conservation program. For instance, in Pettis county this year, government funds spent for conservation achievements through PMA will total approximately $139,000 but actual conservation attained by cooperators over the county would probably total more than $520,000.

It is in this way, with the consumer and taxpayer matching dollars with the farmer, that the nation as a whole is able to make such notable progress in the conservation of its soil and water resources. The cost of conservation is thus shared, with the farmer providing more than half the out-of-pocket cost and most, if not all, of the labor.

1949 KAISER 4-door good condition. Cecil's Bicycle Shop.

When he heard the Spirit of Christmas Present prophesy Tiny Tim's death, Scrooge was seized with panic. "No, no," he cried. "Oh, no, kind Spirit! Say he will be spared!"

But Bob Cratchit's family was unmindful of the Spirit's prophecy. Generously, Bob proposed a toast to his miserly employer, Ebenezer Scrooge. Mrs. Cratchit refused to drink.

At last she gave in. "I'll drink to his health for your sake, Bob, and the Day's, not for his," she said.

of Mrs. Wood in the accident. Mrs. Wood was the daughter of Mrs. Hamlin. Sam Brown, 25-year-old Negro boxer, also was killed. He was one of five boxers riding with Leeper who was en route to a boxing show at Wichita.

Frozen Long-Johns

During a lull in fighting in Hyesanjin area of Northeast Korea along the Yalu river, a sergeant of the U. S. Seventh division holds up a pair of frozen long-johns. U. S. forces Dec. 8, under pressure by advancing Communists, were evacuating the area, northernmost point reached by Americans on the peninsula. (AP Wirephoto from Life magazine)

His Bank Account Brings Trouble

Roy Spears, 32 (left), has admitted spending $18,175 placed in his account at the National bank of Lima, Ohio, through error, but says "I didn't write any bad checks." He is free on bond after pleading innocent to charges of grand larceny, obtaining money under false pretenses and drawing checks without funds. Here he confers with his attorney Ernest S. Navarre. (AP Wirephoto)

Baseball Huddle

Commissioner Happy Chandler (left) seems amused by a story being told by Rogers Hornsby (right), one-time big-leaguer who has a niche in the Hall of Fame, at the meeting of the minor baseball leagues at St. Petersburg, Fla. It's a sure bet that baseball figures in the yarn somewhere. Also enjoying the story are Bill Mulligan (second from left), general manager of Portland in the Pacific Coast league and Geo. Norgan, Portland president. (AP Wirephoto)

Cold Commander

Cold and exhausted after three days and nights without sleep, 35-year-old Maj. Carroll Cooper, commander of a unit of the U. S. Seventh division, looks over the icy terrain in the Hyesanjin area of North Korea — northernmost point reached by U. S. forces in the Korean fighting. His forces now are retreating under Communist pressure. (AP Wirephoto)

Gifts For The Children Of Convicts

By Saul Feldman

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 10.—(P)—Who are the most neglected children on Christmas?

That problem worried Dan Vinson for years.

The kindly, 66-year-old Samaritan finally decided the loneliest children at the happiest time of year were those of convicts.

So in 1944 Vinson bought a few gifts. But his project grew and last year 200,000 children of convicts received presents.

This year, Vinson—called Uncle Dan by millions—will see to it that 2,000,000 are remembered.

He will not accept money, but takes material donations to make toys. Vinson, a jolly, robust man who with whiskers would be more than enough volunteers to help fashion the toys and mail them.

While most people were still worrying how to pay their 1949 Christmas bills, Vinson was planning for this year's work.

He stockpiled materials for toys and had dies made for turning out the presents.

Even if Vinson does not get another donation of material, he still will have enough to supply another 2,000,000 children in 1951.

Last month, Vinson sent out letters to more than 400 penal institutions in the western hemisphere explaining his project. He asked that each convict write how many children he has and their ages.

Letters Pour In

The mail started coming in, and its volume rivals anything the North Pole Santa gets. Right now its more than 2,000 letters a day.

Vinson expects it to reach 10,000 a day next week.

The packages are mailed directly to the convicts, who in return re-address them to their children so they will have a personal touch.

This year there are a dozen different toys Uncle Dan will mail out. Included are little aluminum airplanes, jigsaw puzzles, balloons, hair ribbons, scarfs and cloth dolls.

Vinson, who personally has helped more than 500 paroled convicts, feels that his project is paying off in aiding prison authorities as well as making a real Christmas for their children.

Warden A. F. Fowd, of Indiana state prison at Michigan City, estimates the project has increased prison morale 50 per cent at his institution.

Vinson, a road material salesman, has made a time table so that shipments of presents will go out with just enough time to reach the children on Christmas Eve.

He feels there is a greater thrill of getting them when at just the right time—especially when most of the children aren't expecting anything.

Sgt. Pacheco Now 'One of The Guys'

CAMP COOKE, Calif., Dec. 10.—(P)—For three months Sgt. Manuel J. Pacheco, 27, was a big man in this camp of 20,000 infantrymen.

Even officers saluted him. He once was given a staff car and driver for a trip to a Stanford football game.

For Sergeant Pacheco wore on his blouse that pale blue ribbon symbolic of the nation's highest award for bravery—the Congressional Medal of Honor.

But the modest sergeant always shrugged off the traditional courtesies given Medal of Honor men. He just wanted to be "one of the guys."

Saturday, Sgt. Pacheco was just one of the guys.

From the Pentagon in Washington came that official word that no Manuel J. Pacheco ever had won the Medal of Honor.

A 40th Infantry spokesman has announced that an investigating officer is looking into the case and "will recommend appropriate disciplinary action."

The spokesman said Pacheco gives a Los Angeles address but says he was born in Fall River,

Mass., and attended high school at Northampton, Mass. He lists his wife as now living in Manchester, N. H.

Pacheco's claim to the Medal of Honor, the spokesman added, was based on the killing of 14 Japs on Okinawa.
